In 2012, the Global Commission on HIV and the Law released its final report, HIV and the Law: Risks, Rights and Health. Since then, we have seen countries around the world promote laws, policies and practices that help drive effective responses to the HIV epidemic while also protecting people's human rights. Still, there is much work to be done, and changes in the global HIV landscape present new challenges.

Join us for a day-long event at AIDS 2018 to discuss lessons from the past six years, emerging challenges and opportunities, and how we can work together to advance rights-based health responses moving forward.
